

Invites you to participate in an
Emerson Extended Technology Entrepreneur Education Program

“Where is the Money?”

This seminar will focus on providing the descriptions of various federal and state tax credit programs as well as business development incentives offered by the City of St. Louis. Our presenters will also discuss SBIR/SSTR contracts and grants, as well as partnering opportunities with Missouri Institutions such as the Leonard Wood Institute. Learn how small and mid-size companies can qualify for and recover Federal R&D Tax Credits which could potentially offset your tax liability on a dollar-for-dollar basis and be carried forward for 20 years. Find out what state and local programs you are eligible for and where to start and locate your business in order to maximize your benefits. For current businesses, find out how to earn credits right now for large capital investments and new full-time positions. For entrepreneurs looking to start a business find out how to sign up for tax credit programs now that will earn you income tax credits as your company grows. Many of these tax benefits are transferable.
